

ROCKY MOUNTAIN NEWS

Business Briefs

December 9, 2003

LOCAL

Energy group has Web resource for business

The Southwest Energy Efficiency Project, a nonprofit organization, said Monday it developed an Internet-based information resource to assist Colorado businesses in reducing their energy use and lowering their energy bills.

The Energy Efficiency Guide for Colorado Businesses, found online at www.ColoradoEfficiencyGuide.com, has been developed by SWEEP with funding from the Colorado Governor's Office of Energy Management and Conservation and the Environmental Protection Agency.

The guide includes energy efficiency recommendations for 13 commercial and industrial business sectors and descriptions of practical and cost-effective energy efficiency measures.